Peking Day By Day

BY QUI VIVE

Peking, July 14.—At a late hour yesterday evening the announcement was made by a certain political group that Dr Wellington Koo had consented to accept the portfolio of the Ministry of Foreign affairs—with certain restrictions. These reservations although not very clearly stated seem to be that Dr Koo believes that it is unfair for either one or two men to shoulder the whole responsibility of the Cabinet, and that unless he receives assurances from the conflicting factions that they will give him their co-operation, his work will be of little avail.

The fact that Dr. Koo has once again taken the helm of the Waichiaopu is distinctly gratifying to both the Legations as well as those who have large vested interests in China, since his stand vis-a-vis the foreign Powers is well known, and furthermore his long residence abroad makes him peculiarly fitted to appreciate the many drawbacks which are mitigating against China's interests at the present time.

Although no definite announcement has been made regarding the date when he will again take up the reins of government, it is common gossip that both he and Mr. Wang Keh-min will go into office together on Monday next, one of the chief reasons being that Mr. Yoshizawa, the new Japanese minister is arriving on that date, and will no doubt immediately present his credentials.

* * *

There is an interesting story going the rounds as to the real reason why Mr. Wang Keh-min agreed to accept the portfolio of Finance Minister. Mr. Wang's ability as an international banker has long been favorably commented upon and especially the splendid manner in which he assisted the Bank of China in their recent financial difficulties. In fact he has placed the National Bank on so firm a footing as to be the envy of many of the foreign banking institutions, whose directors did not believe such a thing was possible without a complete reorganisation of personnel.

So far so good. It would appear however that Mr. Wang loaned quite considerable sums to the Peking government from his own personal fortune, and he believed that the only way in which to make his investment secure, was to accept the portfolio of Finance Minister, thereby assuring control over governmental expenditures, and at the same time keeping a careful eye over his own investments. Whether or not the story is true is a matter of conjecture but it would seem to have all the earmarks of veracity, since it "leaked out" from a high official source.

One of the first official acts of the new Finance Minister will be to discover what has happened to a temporary loan of $300,000 said to have been made by The Chinese Bankers Association to cover a portion of Parliament's arrears of salary. Both the Senators and Representatives aver that they have not received a cent of back pay, and refuse to consider any parliamentary measure until a portion at least is paid to them,—which when everything is considered is not an unreasonable demand.

Mr. Wu Ching-lien, the Speaker of the Lower House has telegraphed Marshal Tsao Kun repeatedly regarding the loan which was said to have been successfully negotiated last month and at the same time the Bankers' Association has been approached on the subject with no definite results up to the present.

Sir Robert Hotung's proposals regarding the solution of China's political muddle have been on the whole very favorably received. Both the foreign and Chinese press appear unanimously in favor of holding a conference in the near future of all the military leaders (Tuchuns, Tutis and even Inspector Generals) so that some common starting point can be determined upon which to base future deliberations.

The suggestion has been made in several quarters that a conference might be called, similar to the Shantung Conference during the Washington deliberations, when each faction would be able to express their views in unofficial conversations, exchange opinions with their neighbors, which would clear the atmosphere of many existing doubts and misunderstandings. It has even been quite broadly hinted that such a conference might be instigated by representatives of the foreign powers, and particularly by the Americans, since it is an open secret that since the Washington Conference, the United States is recognised as having a more altruistic interest in China than any other government.

Although the foreign press continues to manifest considerable alarm over the unprecedent internal conditions existing in

Ruhr Prisoner

Gustav Krupp von Bohlen

WITH the sentencing of Dr. Gustav Krupp von Bohlen and Halbach to fifteen years' imprisonment by a French court-martial German writers hasten to point out that there was American blood in Dr. Krupp's veins and to retell the story of his great-grand father's death while fighting for the Union in the Civil War.

Although the fact of Dr. Krupp's American connections was published at the time of his marriage to Bertha Krupp in October, 1906, a number of details of the life of his great-grandfather, Brigadier General Henry Bohlen, are being brought out in the German press. General Bohlen was born in Bremen in 1810, took part in the siege of Antwerp, and then came to the United States. He settled in Philadelphia and made a comfortable fortune in the liquor business. When the Civil War started he helped recruit a regiment largely composed of Germans, the Seventy-fifth Pennsylvania Infantry.

Maloney Released On Bail; Mrs. Stein's Bond Reduced; Cases To Be Heard July 30

District Attorney Grills Franklin On Present Whereabouts Of Capt. Kearney—Fugitive Believed To Be Hiding In Chinghai—Munitions On Eldorado Have Been Sold

Developments yesterday in the million dollar arms and ammunition deal were:

1.—Mal Maloney was released on G.$500 bail put up by Mrs. Stein, and he was released from jail.

2.—Mrs. Elizabeta Stein's bail was reduced from G.$1,000 to G.$500.

3.—The preliminary hearings of Mrs. Stein and Maloney were continued until July 30 upon request of the District Attorney who desired more time to go through the mass of seized documents in his possession.

4.—It was announced that one important witness had left Shanghai for parts unknown.

5.—United States District Attorney Husar announced that 900 rifles and 12 machine guns brought from Gensan, Korea, on the Eldorado had been sold at Chinghai.

6.—Judge C. S. Franklin was placed on the witness stand and grilled by Mr. Husar concerning Capt. Kearney's present whereabouts.

7.—Police all over China notified to arrest Capt. L. D. Kearney.

Throwing a surprise into the camp of the defense United States District Attorney Leonard G. Husar asked that the cases in which Mrs. Elizabeth Stein and Maloney are charged with importing, keeping and selling arms and ammunition, be continued until July 30, and agreed to Mr. F. J. Schuhl's motion for the defense that Maloney be released on bail and that Mrs. Stein's bail be reduced, when they appeared before U. S. Commissioner Nelson E. Lurton yesterday.

The District Attorney's move came as a surprise because it was expected Mrs. Stein's case, at least, would be heard yesterday. Mr. Husar, in asking for the continuance, pointed out that he had secured a great mass of letters, telegrams and other documents, some of which were in code, and that it would take considerable time for him to go through them thoroughly.

Mr. Schuhl, for the defense, agreed to the continuance on condition that Maloney be released on G.$500 bail, and that Mrs. Stein's bail be reduced, and Commissioner Lurton, accordingly, continued the hearing until July 30.

Two other phases of the hearing proved extremely interesting to the big crowd that jammed the court-room. One resulted from Mr. Husar's searching questions concerning Captain Kearney's present hiding place when he called Judge C. S. Franklin, attorney for Kearney and The Kearney Company, Inc., to the stand, and the other when the District Attorney announced that he had received authentic information that 900 rifles and 12 machine guns which were brought from Gensan to Chinghai on the Russian refugee vessel Eldorado, had been sold to Chinese at Chinghai.

GOW CALLED

When court convened Mr. Husar said that he had had a subpoena served through the British Consulate on Mr. W. S. Gow, formerly an employee of Capt. Kearney, to produce certain documents in his possession which belonged to The Kearney Company. Mr. Gow explained that he had turned the documents in question over to Mr. P. F. Faison. The same documents figured in the subpoena that was served on Judge Franklin.

Mr. Husar said that he was satisfied with that explanation, and mentioned that Mr. E. Warduck, who was also subpoened through the courtesy of the British Consulate, had produced all papers asked for. Mr. Husar said that he would like to call Judge Franklin to the witness box, and Mr. Schuhl said that he did not object so long as the questions that were going to be put to Judge Franklin had nothing to do with the case of Mrs. Stein.

Mr. Husar (questioning Judge Franklin): You said with reference to these papers and with reference to Kearney that you still consider yourself as his attorney?—I said in response to that that I have received no instructions from Kearney since I learned of the warrant concerning the ammunition transaction. I have received no instructions and I do not know whether Kearney wants me to represent him in that matter or not.

Do you represent him in any other matter?—I have handled a number of legal matters for Kearney for the last three or four months.

Do you represent The Kearney Company Inc?—I did until the

TURK AGREEMENT READY, PEACE IN NEAR EAST SAFE

Treaty Is "Best Possible Under The Circumstances"

(Reuter's Service)

Lausanne, July 17.—A formal meeting of the whole Conference is being held today for the purpose of registering the agreement but no further difficulty is anticipated and peace may already be considered to be definitely assured. The agreement satisfies the Turks and the settlement is the best possible in the circumstances.

(Reuter's Service)

Lausanne, July 17.—At a meeting of the Allied and Turkish delegates to the Conference, which ended at 1:30 this morning, complete agreement was reached on all the remaining points.

The Powers will retain one cruiser and two destroyers in the Straits until December 31 in the event of ratification being outstanding on that date. The Treaty is expected to be signed on July 25.

The Allies and the Turks officially resumed negotiations this morning in a meeting of experts. The newspapers learn that the conversations will continue this afternoon.

M. Venizelos has visited Ismet Pasha to thank the head Turkish delegate for his intervention with his Government in favor of the seventeen Greeks condemned to death at Beicos for political offences.

The newspapers announce that Colonel Plastiras has arrived in Crete where a Greek squadron has been stationed for some days. Although the Greek Government has given assurances that it is a question of naval maneuvers, public opinion in Greece is aroused to anxiety by the departure of the squadron for Crete.

(Reuter's Service)

Lausanne, July 16.—While the concessions question has not yet been settled, it appears that an understanding has been reached with regard to the evacuation difficulty, under which the three inviting Powers will retain one cruiser each in Turkish waters instead of two pending ratification of the Treaty.

(Reuter's Service)

Lausanne, July 16.—Besides the Turkish demand for the withdrawal of the Allied naval forces, the Conference is finding difficulties with regard to concessions, in which connection the French assert that America intervened and protested against recognition by the Treaty of some pre-war concessions which were not absolutely legally accomplished when war broke out, notably the Railway Regie and the Turkish Petroleum Company.

The Turks admit that the Chester concession prejudices the preferential rights of these concessions, and say that this is unavoidable as the Angora Assembly has approved the Chester concession and New Turkey wants to abolish all preference.

In this connection it is pointed out that the Chester concession bristles with options and it is asked why should options be granted to one group and refused to another.

QUEZON QUITS OFFICE, BRINGS P. I. POLITICAL ROW TO HEAD

Independence Agitators To Try Non-Co-operation

AIMED AT WOOD

Governor-General Silent; U. S. May Have To Act

Exclusive Dispatch To THE CHINA PRESS

Manila, July 17.—The political situation in the Philippines, which for several months has been going from bad to worse, today became the most serious since the occupation by American forces following the Spanish-American War when three prominent Filipino leaders tendered their resignations from public office in an effort to sheer Governor-General Wood of his power.

The resignations were accepted by Vice-Governor Eugene A. Gilmore for transmission to the Governor-General, but General Wood has not as yet accepted them.

The resignations filed today marks the crisis of the fight being made against the Governor-General by Filipino politicians who have adopted non-cooperationist principles similar to those being followed by the adherents of Ghandi in India in an effort to force the United States to grant the islands their independence.

Because of the vital importance the situation has now reached it is probable that only Congress and President Harding will be able to solve the tangle political affairs have gotten into.

QUEZON LEADER

The fight on the Governor-General is being led by Senate President Quezon, the political boss of the islands. For some time he has been campaigning through the provinces making bitter attacks on the Governor-General over the question of closing the branches of the Philippine Bank and the sugar centrals question. During all this time he has preached non-cooperation and the recent dispute over the reinstatement of Ray Conley, the American chief of the secret service anti-gambling squad, has given the Filipino leader an opportunity of using it as the smoke screen for an open break with the Governor-General.

Following the resignation yesterday of Secretary of the Interior Jose Laurel, Senate President Quezon, Speaker of the House Roxas and Mayor Fernandez of Manila today tendered their resignations. Quezon and Roxas resigned as members of the Board of Control. As the Governor-General is the third member of the Board it leaves him without constitutionally required cooperators in the administration of the islands government and ties up the governmental machinery. Mayor Fernandez' resignation also throws the administration of the city's affairs on the Governor-General's shoulders without the faintest expectation of receiving any assistance from the city officials.

As Quezon controls the legislature it is not expected that that body will co-operate with General Wood and assist him in solving any of the problems with which he is now faced.

WOOD SILENT

General Wood has so far refused to make any statement concerning the situation, but it is said that an effort is being made to patch up the differences between the Governor-General and the Filipino politicians concerning the status of Chief Conley.

Conley was charged with having accepted bribes from gamblers. It is asserted the charges were frame-ups and when Conley was tried in the Court of First Instance he was acquitted of the first charge and the second one was withdrawn. Following his acquittal General Wood ordered him reinstated but was bitterly opposed by the politicians who desire a Filipino in the office. General Wood forced his wishes over Quezon's threats and Secretary Laurel's resignation was the first step taken by the politicians in retaliation.

A peculiar development in the Conley case came today when the

Stage Star Marries Barrymore

Exclusive Dispatch To THE CHINA PRESS

ROME, July 17.—Miss Irene Fenwick, Broadway stage star, who was recently divorced, became the bride of Lionel Barrymore, one of the famous Barrymore stage family, at a quiet wedding here today. Following the ceremony they left for a short honeymoon to be spent in Venice.

The engagement of Miss Fenwick and Barrymore was announced just before they sailed from New York on the liner Paris on June 7 and came as a surprise to even their personal friends. Barrymore is here making a film version of Hall Caine's story, "The Eternal City". Other members of the cast, including Montagu Love, Bert Lytell and Miss Barbara La Marr, attended the wedding. The Barrymore's will return to New York in about a month, where both are to appear on Broadway again this season.

WHEAT GROWERS ARE ALARMED BY FALLING PRICE

Some Farmers Want Government Control And Price Fixing

(BY UNITED PRESS)

(Special To The China Press)

Wichita, Kansas, July 17.—While wheat growers from the five principal wheat producing states in the Middle West are in conference here seeking ways and means to stop the price decline which they assert will ruin them the Chicago market opened at 98 for September delivery and dropped two points during the day, closing at 96.

Proposals advanced by some of the wheat growers in session here asking for government control of the sale of the crop with price-fixing, and suggestions that a certain percentage of the crop be withheld from the market as necessary to keep up the price are certain to meet with widespread popular disapproval.

The latter proposal is particularly unsatisfactory because indications are that the crop this year will be abundant and report from Canada indicate that the crop there will break all records.

BRITISH LABOR RENEWS ATTACK ON CAPITALISM

Snowden Motion To Supplant Present System Is Defeated

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 17.—Labor's attack on the Capitalist citadel was renewed today at resumption of the session of the House of Commons on Mr. Philip Snowden's motion in favor of Socialism, set down on March 21, declaring that the capitalist system ought to be gradually superseded by socialisation of Industry. All parties comdown on March 21, declaring that motion was rejected by 268 votes ..1.

Mr. J. B. Clynes declared that Capitalism was on the defensive.

Mr. Lloyd George, predicting keen competition when European conditions were stabilised, urged an inquiry into the causes of industrial discontent.

Mr. L. C. M. S. Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty, who was spokesman for the Government, suggested that Socialism would not merely involve a Postmaster-General but a Butcher-General, etc., and an Under-Secretary of Poultry, Rabbits and Underwear. He traversed the contention that strikes were concomitant on Capitalism, and asked whether there had not been strikes in Australian and New Zealand State enterprises.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, winding up the debate, said that every single commodity was being cornered and trade restricted by Capitalism. In conclusion he declared that until the fine and impalpable spiritual effort in every man ranged by the side of production, society would never solve the great problem of production.

British Official To Investigate Liquor Report

Exclusive Dispatch To THE CHINA PRESS

London, July 17.—Ronald McNeill, the Foreign Secretary, today replied to a questioner in the House of Commons concerning a report that the United States Shipping Board liner Leviathan, the largest ship in the world, had contracted for a supply of liquor to be placed aboard in England so that the vessel would not be handicapped in competition by not having drinks to serve. The foreign Secretary said he would take inquiries concerning the report.

HARDING MAN DEFEATED FOR SENATORSHIP IN MINNESOTA

Johnson, Backed By Senate Radicals, Victor

IS SLAP AT G. O. P.

Election Closely Watched As Test Of President's Strength

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Special to The China Press

Minneapolis, July 17.—Magnus Johnson, the Farmer-Labor candidate, was elected United State Senator from Minnesota to succeed Senator Knute Nelson, deceased, by a large majority over Governor J. A. O. Preus, Republican, in the election held today.

Over one half million votes were cast in what was the most interesting election in recent years as it attracted nation-wide attention because it was considered a test of strength between radical and progressive Republicans headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who supported Johnson, and the conservative Republicans under President Harding's leadership, who backed Governor Preus.

Gov. Preus relied on the organisation he had built up in the state and went before the electorate as a supporter of Harding's policies, including the World Court. He was opposed to the League of Nations. He was also backed by the former Nelson organisation as the late Senator had announced he wished Preus to succeed him just before his death.

Johnson is a supporter of the liberal policies advocated by La Follete and the Senate progressives. He made an issue of the question of longer credit for farmers and attacked Government administration of the state. Johnson was formerly a state senator and was defeated for Governor by Preus.

Johnson's election gives the Farmer-Labor party two Senators in Congress, as Senator Henrik Shipstead, Minnesota's senior senator, is also a member of that organisation.

(Reuter's Service)

St. Paul, Minn., July 17.—Mr. Magnus Johnson, the Farmer Labor candidate, has been elected United States Senator, defeating Governor Preus (Republican), President Harding's candidate, by a heavy majority.

The election attracted widespread interest in view of the fact that Senator La Follette, the leader of the Progressive bloc, supported Mr. Johnson.

Ford Leading In Straw Ballot Test

New York, July 17.—Despite professional politicians' efforts to kill Henry Ford's presidential boom, the final result of Collier's straw ballots shows that he leads the list with 32,850 votes out of 260,000. Harding following with 52,755, with McAdoo, Cox, Johnson, Smith, Hughes, Hoover, La Follette, Wood, Borah, and Underwood, in the order named.

Commenting on the result, Collier's Weekly says that Ford will become an issue in American politics, whether he becomes a candidate or not.

Unless he eliminates himself from the political situation, thoughts will revolve around him, because the result will represent a genuine cross section of American opinion, except the farmers.

Chicago, July 17.—William G. McAdoo, son-in-law of former President Wilson and Secretary of the Treasury in the Wilson administration, characterised the approaching presidential race as the "great American free-for-all".

Mr. McAdoo on whose behalf a presidential boom has been created and who is said to have pledges of 200 votes in the Democratic National convention, said he 'knew no reason why Henry Ford should not enter the race as a candidate for the presidency.'

Company passed out of existence. I was on annual retainer.

ONE MAN CONCERN

Do you know just before the Company was adjudged bankrupt who the Directors or officers of that Company were? There was only one stock holder, and that was Kearney. I know he promised to issue some stock to Roth and Mayer and at one time to a British missionary. I do know that that stock was never issued.

In other words, The Kearney Company Inc. was a one-man concern? At the time of its incorporation there were four or five incorporators. There were other missionaries, but I do not remember their names. Subsequently they could not agree. They wanted more management of the concern, and Kearney would not give it to them. That is the account I was given. Later Mr. Snyder represented the Company and there was an agreement to disagree, and Kearney agreed to purchase the stock. As a matter of fact I do not think any certificate for shares was ever drawn up.

ADOPTED DAUGHTER

At the time of the filing of the bankruptcy proceeding of The Kearney Company Inc. there was one stock holder?—So I understand, Kearney also signified his intention to transfer 35 out of 50 shares to the trustee of his adopted Chinese daughter. That had actually never taken place and the shares were still in his name.

E. Walduck was manager of the Kearney Company?—He had been the manager since some time in April and he wrote out his resignation. Not having been able to get in touch with Kearney the resignation was never accepted. When the notice of the bankruptcy was filed he wanted to insert an advertisement in the papers. I had the papers drawn up and inserted the notice in the papers. In the meantime we received other information and the petition had to be re-drawn and for that reason the petition could not be filed until the correction was made. Walduck insisted on "ex-manager" being inserted.

There was a meeting of directors and a resolution adopted to put the company into bankruptcy?—At that time there was one stock holder and therefore one director, and that one director had authorised the filing of the bankruptcy proceeding. That was Kearney.

AT CHINGHAI

And whom did he authorise to do that?—It was after he went away. He told me that at Chinghai, on Friday, July 6. I received a telegram from Chinghai and also a telegram from Mr. Hu, the Magistrate of Hangchow, that the Eldorado had arrived and to come to Chinghai as there was serious difficulties. I went to Chinghai and found that the Chekiang authorities would not allow the refugees to land and therefore the charter of the steamer could not be completed. I returned the same afternoon. Kearney asked me to confer with the authorities. I had received these two telegrams just after his arrival.

Did you send a telegram to him at Chinghai?—I have not. I have received no communication from Kearney through any medium or in any form since I saw him in Chinghai right up to the present time. I have been unable to reach him. I tried to reach him through Mr. Hu. I wrote two letters to Mr. Hu telling him that there was a warrant for Kearney's arrest, and also asking him to have Kearney come to Shanghai to thrash the whole matter out. I heard from Mr. Hu that he did not know where Kearney was.

You have not known that Kearney is under the protection of the Civil Governor of the Chekiang Province?—I have no knowledge at all. I have seen Mrs. Kearney and she said that she could not locate her husband.

GUNS SOLD

I take it that you are unaware of the fact that two days ago 900 guns were taken out of the Eldorado and 12 machine guns and delivered to the hands of the Civil Governor of Chekiang?—That is news to me.

Have you any idea why Chung Tsai Wang should detain Kearney?—I know that Kearney had a commission from the Civil Governor of Chekiang. That commission was exhibited to me when I was asked to proceed to Korea. He received a nominal salary of $300 from the Civil Governor?—He told me he received $1,500 a month. I do not know what he actually received. I know that in December he was receiving $200 a month as adviser to admiral Tu at Nanking. With regard to the ammunition on the Eldorado, when I was in Korea I saw the Japanese authorities and they informed me that the arms and ammunition on the Eldorado were the possession of the Russian refugees, and for that reason the Japanese authorities could do nothing. That is the information that the American Consul sent to Mr. Cunnigham and to the Peking Minister. If there was any ammunition and arms the Japanese considered them as personal arms.

KEARNEY ON GUNBOAT

Where did you see Kearney when you went to Chinghai?—It was on board a gunboat of the Chekiang Government. I have been endeavoring to get in touch with him. I have written to the Civil Governor of Chekiang Province, but I received no reply.

Did Kearney say anything at the time that he instructed you to file the voluntary petition in bankruptcy of The Kearney Company Inc. of going to Shanghai or signing the petition himself?—He did not. He said he intended to go through here to Hangchow.

Did he instruct you as to who should sign the petition?—He said Walduck was manager.

Mr. Husar asked for an adjournment of the case on the ground that there was not sufficient time to properly go into it before bringing it up for trial. Considerably more time was necessary. It would be necessary for the United States Government to produce every witness. There was one witness whom the prosecution wanted who had already left town suddenly, and the prosecution also knew others who would be wanted in connection with the case. The difficulty of the whole situation was that all the witnesses were not citizens of the United States. Mr. Husar added that it took a long time to produce all these witnesses. He merely wanted a reasonable length of time to properly prepare his case. He mentioned that ever since it came up he had been working day and night and on Sundays. There was no hardship on Mrs. Stein in the adjournment that was sought because she was out on nominal bail.

As soon as the question of Mrs. Stein's bail was settled Mr. Schuhl asked that Maloney be admitted to bail. Deputy Marshal Van Huskirk brought Maloney into court from the jail and Commissioner Lurton then granted Mr. Schuhl's request.

Just at the close of the hearing Mr. Schuhl also requested that the court issue an order prohibiting Mr. Husar from securing, or tieing up, Mrs. Stein's mail. Mr. Lurton replied that he had no knowledge that Mr. Husar was securing Mrs. Stein's mail and at any rate could issue no order stopping him.

Maloney was released from the jail at the close of the hearing on bail furnished by Mrs. Stein.

The acquisition of the machine guns and rifles by the Chekiang authorities was confirmed yesterday by an official despatch received here by the Bureau of Foreign Affairs from Commissioner Yuan of Ningpo, who stated that the Eldorado is now anchored off the lighthouse at Kingtangshan outside of the Chinghai Harbor near Ningpo.

The steamer, the message said was able to make only three knots an hour on account of engine trouble during her trip to Ningpo. Twelve of the 700 refugees together with the commander and engineer of the ship have been landed, Commissioner Yuan asserted.

Big, New Del Monte Show On Tonight, 16 Girls In Ballet

Beginning tonight, the Del Monte cafe will introduce something entirely new in the line of girl shows, the ballet there having been increased to sixteen girls. As a further innovation, the ballet will be put on at twelve thirty sharp, instead of one thirty as heretofore, the management believing that the earlier show will give many patrons an opportunity to be there who otherwise would miss the entertainment.

The regular Del Monte show, including character dancing and special dance numbers, will start at ten o'clock, as usual. The four new girls who recently arrived from Japan are exceptionally fine dancers, and with the enlarged ballet the Del Monte cabaret will be one of the best ever offered in the East. Every number on the program is a top liner.

The new ballet which will be presented for the first time tonight has been called the "Eagle Eye Indian Ballet," and is an adaptation of American Indian dances. Special costumes have been designed, and with the larger number of girls participating the spectacle undoubtably will be a knockout.

It is not generally known that the Del Monte, aside from its reputation for good shows, is also gaining in popularity as an eating place, especially with those who like American ham or bacon and eggs. Saturday night last a hundred and eighty-four portions of ham and eggs were ordered by Del Monte patrons.

Del Monte ham and eggs are what Al Isreal calls the "End of a Perfect Day" dish. Al was down town yesterday looking for a new range. The growing popularity of Del Monte ham and eggs is swamping the kitchen. And as for the hens that lay the eggs, they're getting temperamental with all their new popularity. Al said yesterday that the hens had threatened to go on strike unless they were provided with amahs.

Naval Contracts In U.S. To Be Canc led

Washington, July 17.—Although no actual naval scrapping will occur until after ratifications formally have been exchanged between the signatories of the Washington Disarmament Conference treaties two naval boards will be appointed immediately, one to consider scrapping methods and the other to consider cancellation of contracts for vessels in course of construction but not completed.

Definite steps toward fulfilling the terms of the Naval Limitations treaty have been taken by Secretary of the Navy Edwin C. Denby who has called a meeting of the Naval Council to arrange details for the scrapping of the battleships to be abandoned under the terms of the treaty.

MORE TROUBLE IS BREWING IN WESTERN HUNAN

Changsha, July 17.—General Chao Heng-ti has ordered Tang Shen-chi, brigade-commander at Changteh, to despatch his forces to western Hunan and watch the movements of Tsai Jui-yu so that he could be kept informed.

It is reported that 28 battalions under the command of Chen Jutseng, commander of the garrison troops at Paoch'ing, Hunan, have joined hands with Tsai Jui-yu. Chen was a protege of Tien Yin shou, who has been approached by Chao Heng-ti to ask Chen to refrain from taking such steps.

Tsai has two brigades under Generals Tien and Liu. The latter is still friendly to Chao Heng-ti with whom he communicates quite often. Chao is utilising this opportunity to force Tsai to surrender and return to Changsha but no reply has been received.

same board which a few days ago recommended to General Wood that Conley be reinstated changed their report and recommended that he be discharged. General Wood commented on the about face report by remarking that it was, to say the least, puzzling.

The situation is fraught with great danger and President Harding's taking a hand in the question is vitally necessary before the governmental machinery of the islands can again start to run without interference.

Faint rumors are heard that General Wood, disgusted with the attitude of the politicians, will resign, but it is not generally believed in Manila that he will quit office at such a crucial time.

GET INFORMATION FROM AMERICA ON COTTON SHIPMENT

Important information regarding cotton shipments, in accordance with the regulations of the Fulmer Cotton Standard Act, was received yesterday by cable by the firm of Anderson, Clayton and Co. from their head offices at Houston, Texas. The cablegram states that:

"All future sales for shipment after August 1, 1923 must be made in American grades, but you may guarantee equal to Liverpool equivalent. You may continue selling staple in millimeters."

This means that a sale for say: 100 bales Good Middling, Liverpool classification, will be confirmed and invoiced by the firm as: 100 bales Strict Middling (equal to Liverpool Good Middling).

For information Messrs. Anderson, Clayton and Co., state below the range of American grades with their equivalents in Liverpool grades:

Strict Good Middling, American Grade, equal Braely Middling Fair, Liverpool grade; Good Middling equal Fully Good Middling; Strict Middling equal Good Middling; Middling equal Fully Middling; Strict Low Middling equal Middling; Low Middling equal Fully Low Middling.

On account of inequality between American and Liverpool types the grades lower than the above cannot be compared and will have to be sold against U. S. Government Standard types or private types.

Subsidiary specifications as to color will remain the same, i.e. slightly greyish, blue, tinged, etc. For instance Strict Middling tinged (American) is equal to Good Middling tinged (Liverpool).

Tramways Company Shows £96,998 Operating Profit; 20 Percent Dividend Paid

An operating profit of £96,998, which is an increase of £3,918 over the previous twelvemonth was shown last year by the Shanghai Tramways Co. (The Shanghai Electric Construction Company, Ltd.), it was announced by the chairman at the seventeenth annual general meeting, held May 30, at Basilden House, Moorgate, London, E. C. The dividend for the year was 20 percent.

At an extraordinary general meeting held following the regular meeting it was decided to split the existing £10 shares into shares of £1 each.

The meeting was presided over by Sir Alfred Dent, K.C.M.G., who after the secretary, Mr. L. W. Hawkins, had read the notice spoke as follows:

The report and accounts have been in your hands some days, and I have no doubt that you will take them as read, in accordance with the usual practice.

The operating profit, at £96,998, shows an increase of £3,918 as compared with the preceding year. The principal variations in other sources of profit are an improvement in the profit on exchange from £15,765 to £17,160. On the other hand, interest and dividends have fallen from £5,230 to £2,286, not only by reason of the lower rate earned by bank deposits, but also because during a considerable part of the preceding year we held cash balances and securities which were ultimately used to pay Excess Profits Duty. The profit on realisation of investments was £1,209, as compared with £3,391, and this is an item which cannot, of course, be relied on as a source of income. The net result of the several variations is a profit of £113,299, as compared with £112,945, giving us the slight advantage of £354.

As regards appropriations, the Board thought it wise to increase the Reserve for Renewals from £10,000 to £15,000, which is not greatly in excess of the actual expenditure on renewals during the year. This appropriation raises the Reserve for Renewals to £94,314, which is equal to nearly 20 percent on the Construction Expenditure Account. An appropriation of £5,000, being the estimated liability to Corporation Profits Tax, has also been made, and the sum of £2,531 has been allocated to the Staff Provident Fund, the nature of which was explained in my speech of a year ago.

After making these appropriations there remains a balance of profit sufficient to permit of a final dividend of 8 percent, making 20 percent for the year, and of increasing the carry forward from £6,261 to £17,029.

An increasingly serious factor affecting the profit-earning capacity of the Company is the loss by depreciation on subsidiary coinage, which rose to £139,757, calculated at 2s. to the $. There is, unfortunately, no indication during the current year of any improvement in the percentage of loss, but reference is made in the Directors' report to a hope of counterbalancing the loss, and beyond assuring you that this reference was made advisely, it is undesirable that I should state the form which it is hoped the relief will take.

The reference which has been made in the Report from year to year to the extension of the Company's system under railless traction appears again this year. Negotiations with the Council have been long drawn out, but agreement has been reached on nearly every point, and the preparation of a draft Concession by the Council's legal advisers may be regarded as an indication that negotiations have nearly reached finality. A satisfactory feature of the terms of the Concession is that there will be no capital expenditure by the Company in respect of the reconstruction of roads in such a way as to fit them for use by railless omnibuses, nor will there be any charge for maintenance. That expenditure is to be undertaken by the Council, and the Company is to pay two Mexican cents per car mile for the use of the roads so reconstructed, which will take the place of interest on capital and cost of maintenance. The advantage of this arrangement is that it will restrict our expenditure on the extension to the provision of rolling stock, overhead equipment, and additional car-shed accommodation.

For a considerable time past we have had the Singapore Tramway System under observation, and Mr. McColl made an exhaustive report on it in 1918. The undertaking, which was far from prosperous in 1918, continued to suffer for want of funds necessary to bring it into an efficient condition, and early in 1922 we were approached with a view to our interesting ourselves in its rehabilitation. Mr. McColl then visited Singapore on his way home in order to bring his information up to date, and as the result of negotiations with the Municipal Commissioners of Singapore for a new Concession, and with the Company, and subsequently with the Receiver for the Debentureholders in regard to financial and administrative matters, the point indicated in the Directors' Report has been reached. We are assisting the Receiver in carrying on the business, and it is satisfactory that the average weekly takings of the Tramways are now considerably more than double what they were at their lowest point.

In view of the dilapidated state of the tramway track, and the cost of renewing it, it is intended that the traffic business in Singapore should be re-established under railless traction, on terms similar to those which I have indicated as forming part of our railless concession in Shanghai. Mr. McColl, who has made an exhaustive study of local conditions, is of opinion that railless traction is specially applicable to Singapore conditions, and that a large and profitable business can rapidly be built up. An agreement with the Commissioners for the supply of power involved the Company in very heavy losses, and it is one of the terms of the reorganisation that fresh arrangements in regard to the supply of power are to be made.

The financial conditions of the reorganisation provide for the conversion of the existing Debentures of the Singapore Company into shares of a new company, and for the claims of the unsecured creditors and shareholders to be satisfied in a similar way. This will permit of the new capital, after payment of the cost of the reorganisation and the Receiver's indebtedness, being applied entirely towards the re-equipment of the undertaking, while the existing assets, which are of considerable value quite apart from the Concession, will form a margin of security. The administration of the new company, both in this country and in Singapore, will be in the hands of our Company, and we are to receive, in return for financial and administrative assistance, a half-share of the profits. It is believed that by guaranteeing the new Company's Debenture stock and undertaking the management, this Company's credit, and its experience in traction business can without employing any of its cash resources, be turned to profitable account, to the mutual advantage of the creditors and shareholders of the Singapore Company and of ourselves.

Before concluding, I should like to express the Board's appreciation of the services which have been rendered by the local Board, the General Manager, the Deputy General Manager, and the Staff. It is upon their capacity for steady, reliable work, and for overcoming the difficulties which are inseparable from any business of importance, that the success of our undertaking depends, and we feel that our thanks are due to them for the satisfactory way in which they have discharged their duties.

The Chairman then proposed: "That the Report of the Directors and the Statement of Accounts for the year ended December 31, 1922, be and they are hereby approved and adopted, and that a final dividend of 8 percent, less income tax, making 20 percent for the year, be and it is hereby declared." Mr. Haskell seconded the resolution, which was unanimously agreed to.

The Chairman proposed: "That Mr. A. M. Marshall and Monsieur L. Jadot, the Directors retiring in accordance with the Articles of Association, be and they are hereby re-elected Directors of the Company." Mr. Portham seconded, and the resolution was passed unanimously.

The re-election of the Auditors, Messrs. Deloitte, Plender, Griffiths & Co., for the ensuing year, at a fee of forty guineas, was proposed by Mr. C. Mackintosh, seconded by Mr. J. G. Smeaton, and duly carried.

The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the Directors, Secretary, and local Management for the successful results of the past year, which was proposed by Mr. Mackintosh, and seconded by Mr. W. Sichel.

At the conclusion of the Annual General Meeting an Extraordinary General Meeting was held.

The Chairman addressed the meeting as follows: The business of the Ordinary General Meeting being concluded, the Meeting now resolves itself into an Extraordinary General Meeting, and I will ask the Secretary to read the notice convening it.

The only business to be dealt with by this Meeting is a Resolution for splitting the existing £10 shares into ten shares of £1 each. This is quite in accordance with what has been done in the case of many other well-known companies whose shares are of a higher denomination than £1, and standing at a considerable premium, because such a share is what is known as "heavy," and difficult to deal in. The reduction to the popular denomination of £1 will bring the shares to a more reasonable price from the point of view of the small investor, and will improve their marketability by increasing the number available for Stock Exchange dealings. The splitting of shares is usually followed by an improvement in the market price. This is directly to the advantage of the Shareholders individually, and will also be to the advantage of the Company as a whole in the event of its being found necessary to issue more capital to finance development of the business.

A point which will no doubt occur to some of you is the position of the holders of warrants to bearer for shares of £10 each. Such warrants will remain outstanding, but any Shareholder who so desires will be entitled on and after a date, of which due notice will be given by advertisement, to bring in his share warrants and have them marked free of charge as representing a corresponding number of shares of £1 each. We have taken the opinion of our brokers on the matter, and they have also consulted other brokers and jobbers who deal of our shares, and find that not only that no difficulty is likely to arise in regard to the purchase and sale of share warrants to bearer, but also that the spliting will be welcomed by members of the Stock Exchange generally. I have, therefore, no hesitation in recommending you to support the resolution.

The Chairman then moved: "That each of the 40,000 shares of £10 each, constituting the present issued capital of the Company be sub-divided into ten shares of £1 each, and that the shares resulting from such subdivision be renumbered in such manner as the Directors may determine." This was seconded by Mr. Haskell, and carried unanimously.

FOREIGN SAILOR GETS MONTH FOR BRUTAL ASSAULT

Mixed Court Sentences Argentinian; Others Up Saturday

Dick Heddon, an Argentinian seaman, was sentenced to a month's imprisonment by the Mixed Court yesterday for his share in an assault made by four men on a Greek named Tony Anastasia on Boone Road Monday night. Heddon was also charged with being drunk and disorderly.

The excuse proffered by the accused was that the Greek had attacked a man smaller than himself and that he, Heddon, merely went to the smaller man's assistance.

Three unemployed American sailors who participated in the attack are lodged in the American jail and will appear before United States Commissioner N. E. Lurton Saturday morning, when the complainant will probably be able to appear. The Greek was so badly beaten up that he had to be taken back to hospital immediately after testifying yesterday. The Americans involved are Chris Hanson, William Connor and James Filen.

The argument is alleged to have started over a game of cards at the Hanbury Institute, the four prisoners having followed the Greek to Boone Road and there set upon him with fists and feet.

Unlicensed Driver Almost Runs Down Traffic Inspector

S. J. Milne Escapes Collision By Straddling Hood; Driver Jailed

The onerous duties of traffic supervision are at times enlivened by a little personal excitement and hazard. For instance an experience of Sub-Inspector Milne, who casts a superintending eye upon the vehicular flood which oozes through the central district.

On Monday a sizeable funeral procession for a member of the French police force was taking place and Sub-Inspector Milne was standing at the corner of Foochow and Honan Roads to see that things went smoothly. Presently there came tearing along a motor car, with one Lien Soong-ling at the wheel, which threatened to create havoc with the cortege. The Inspector stepped out into the road and signalled a stop. The motor car driver kept coming. Sub-Inspector Milne, by means of a very athletic leap, managed to straddle the bonnet of the machine. Otherwise he would have been flattened beneath it.

When the car finally came to a halt it was discovered that the driver was a coolie employed by Dr. Tsao to wash his car. The man had neither permission to drive the machine nor a driver's permit. Which facts were responsible for his receiving a three weeks' jail sentence at the Mixed Court yesterday.

Peking
Day By Day

China at the present time, the Chinese apparently consider that a marked amelioration has taken place during the past few days.

It is just a little more than a month ago that President Li Yuan-hung "escaped" to Tientsin and during the interim political prophets have run the gamut of emotions, all of which has proved exactly nothing. It is easily possible to apply the old adage about the weather to the political situation, "All signs fail in dry weather," and with the exception of a daily thundershower about four o'clock each afternoon, the weather has been exceptionaly dry even for Peking.

"Revenons a nos moutons." At the present time there are three political factions in the north which hold the limelight. The first is headed by President Li Yuan-hung and the cohorts who have remained faithful to him despite his recent difficulties. The second party might be called the Tuan Chi-jui group, which in Shakespearean would doubtless be termed, a stable of black horses, mugwumps, or fence sitters, and the third party is of course the despotic militarists as represented by the Marshal Tsao Kun—the Chihli faction.

For the past several days it has been bruited abroad that Marshal Tuan Chi-jui had definitely decided to emerge from his seclusion, "throw his skull cap into the ring" and once again enter the political lists, and tilt a lance in the cause of justice. But Marshal Tuan is far too old a hand at political jousting bees to ever come out in the open and say what he really thinks. He prefers to indulge in long and secret conferences in Tientsin, with various factional leaders, pump them dry of all information, and draw his own conclusions. As a matter of fact Marshal Tuan is said by many to hold the balance of power in the hollow of his hand and both sides are courting his favor. However, the main and sole condition imposed by the other party leaders has been to impose the condition that Marshal Tuan dissassociate himself from the old Anfu party, and particularly Lu Yung-hsiang making it a sine qua non that "Little Hsu" (Hsu Yu-ch'en) and others of his ilk be left to shift for themselfes, otherwise the adhesion of Chekiang and South China in general will be lost. Marshal Tuan continues to emulate the sphinx, realising that any premature statements, or alliances, will either definitely make or mar his political aspirations.

Lieutenant Palmer, V. C., the Malayan delegate, proposed the toast of the Prince of Wales to which His Royal Highness, responding, pointed out that there was hardly a portion of the Empire which he had not visited, except South Africa, which he hoped to visit very shortly.

San Francisco, July 17.—Attorney General Webb announced yesterday that a petition had been filed in the Superior Court of California asking for an injunction, the purpose of which will be first to check activities of the organisation known as the Independent Workers of the World, and, second, to bring about its dissolution.

The organisation is better known as the "I.W.W.," sometimes referred to as the "I Won't Works." It is made up of extremist radical elements and in the past has fomented considerable trouble through instigating strikes and other labor movements in the state, as well as in other states.

HALF MILLION IN REVENUE STAMPS INVOLVED IN CASE

Interesting Fraud Charge At Mixed Court Brings Counter-Allegations

The charge that he had fraudulently obtained $606,500 worth of Chinese Government revenue stamps was brought against a Chinese named Sung Yu-zoong at the Mixed Court yesterday, the defense immediately making countercharges of misappropriation against the complainants.

Detective Sergeant Knight stated to Assessor Davis and Magistrate Loh that the accused was arrested at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning at 643 Myburgh Road and upon being read the warrant declared that he had been given the stamps to mortgage by a bank at Tientsin.

Mr. Musso, appearing for the defendant, told the Court that he had been instructed by his client on July 13 to take action against the complainant, Tsang Tsz-wing, in this matter. He had documentary evidence to show that the bank mentioned had decided to open a branch here and had asked his client to raise $200,000 for this purpose. His client had contributed $60,000 himself and had secured the remainder from friends. The money, however, instead of being kept here had been sent to Tientsin and had been loaned to the Chinese Government. When counsel's client inquired regarding the money the revenue stamps were sent to him to mortgage. Now a law had been made forbidding the mortgaging of such stamps.

Mr. Musso said that he had intended to start suit charging the misappropriation of the cash, but the complainant had got into court first. He asked that the complainant be put on security, which proceeding would be required in a civil action. The stamps, he said, were at the house of the late compradore of the Russo-Asiatic Bank. He asked an early hearing of the case.

Chief Inspector Wheeler of the Mixed Court stated that he understoood there was about a cartload of these stamps and asked that they be turned over to the police pending the outcome of the action.

The Court remanded the case for as early a hearing as can be arranged and ordered the stamps deposited at the police station, after which the defendant was to be released on his personal bond.

Mr. L. K. Kentwell appeared for the complainant.

Gallopers To Play Six Game Series With The Peking Marines Team

Manager Derby Gallop has arranged for a series of six games with the strong Peking Marines baseball team, beginning a week from Saturday. The Marines are reported to have a strong team this year, which will mean some good baseball for the local fans.

There will be a game today with the Mitsuibishi team, beginning at five o'clock. On Saturday and Sunday there will be games with an all-star Japanese aggregation, and on next Wednesday another game with the Mitsuibishi team. All these will be practice games in preparation for the Marine series.

The team will be handicapped in its forthcoming games, due to the absence of Captain Harry Ingman, who has gone to Tsingtau to recuperate from the injury he suffered in one of the Dai Mai games. Harry's shoulder is still bothering him and will not be strong again for at least a couple of weeks, the physician told him.

Now that the grounds have dried out Manager Gallop urges all players and candidates for the team to turn out for practice, as the wet weather of the last few weeks has undoubtably put kinks in every arm on the team. The field was in good condition yesterday and with a continuation of the sunny weather will be lightning fast for the week end games.

NEW GEMS by O. HENRY

A Treasure-Trove of Humor From His Newly Discovered Newspaper Writings

A STRANGER walked into a Houston bank the other day and presented a draft to the cashier for payment.

"You will have to be identified," said the cashier, "by someone who knows your name to be Henry B. Saunders."

"But I don't know anybody in Houston," said the stranger. "Here's a lot of letters addressed to me, and a telegram from my firm, and a lot of business cards. Won't they be identification enough?"

"I am sorry," said the cashier, "but while I have no doubt that you are the party, our rule is to require better identification."

The man unbuttoned his vest and showed the initial, H. B. S., on his shirt. "Does that go?" he asked. The cashier shook his head. "You might have Henry B. Saunders' letters, and his papers, and also his shirt on, without being the right man. We are forced to be very careful."

The stranger tore open his shirt front, and exhibited a large mustard plaster, covering his entire chest. "There," he shouted, "if I wasn't Henry B. Saunders, do you suppose I would go around wearing one of his mustard plasters stuck all over me? Do you think I would carry my impersonation of anybody far enough to blister myself to look like him? Gimme tens and fives, now, I haven't got time to fool any more."

The cashier hesitated and then shoved out the money. After the stranger had gone, the official rubbed his chin gently and said softly to himself: "That plaster might be somebody else's, after all, but no doubt it's all right."

THE APPLE

A youth held in his hand a round, red, luscious apple.

"Eat," said the Spirit, "it is the apple of life."

"I will have none of it," said the youth, and threw it far from him. "I will have success. I will have fame, fortune, power, and knowledge."

"Come, then," said the Spirit.

They went together up steep and rocky paths. The sun scorched, the rain fell upon them, the mountain mists clung about them, and the snow fell in beautiful and treacherous softness, obscuring the way as they climbed. Time swiftly passed and the golden locks of the youth took on the whiteness of the snow. His form grew bent with the toil of climbing; his hand grew weak and his voice quivering and high.

The Spirit had not changed and upon his face was the inscrutable smile of wisdom.

They stood at last upon the topmost peak. The old man that was the youth said to the Spirit: "Give me the apple of Success. I have come upon the heights where it grows and it is mine. Be quick, for there is a strange dimness in my sight."

The Spirit gave him an apple round and red and fair to behold.

The man bit into it and found rottenness and bitter dust.

"What is this?" he asked.

"It was the apple of Life," said the Spirit. "It is now the apple of Success."

ONE CONSOLATION

Breakfast was over and Adam had gone to his daily occupation of pasting the names of the animals on their cages. Eve took the parrot to one side and said: "It was this way; He made a big kick about those biscuit not being good at breakfast."

"And what did you say?" asked the parrot.

"I told him there was one consolation; he couldn't say his mother ever made any better ones."

British Court Hands Down Important Appeal Ruling

An important decision on the right of appeal against an interlocutary judgment of a judge in chambers was handed down in the British Appeal Court yesterday by Judge Sir Skinner Turner, Judge Peter Grain concurring. The Court ruled that the appeal should lie and following the judgment the case was heard, the appeal being dismissed with costs after the hearing of argument.

The case involved was that brought by Mr. M. C. Tsar, on behalf of himself and Messrs. C. L. Wah, Y. T. Yang, S. S. Woo, C. K. Wah and K. T. Soong against Mr. Charlesworth P. Rawson. Mr. Tycho Wing, on behalf of the appellants, had appealed against the judgment of Judge Grain in chambers on the previous day. Mr. Reader Harris appeared for the respondent.

In giving judgment Judge Sir Skinner Turner said:

"This is an appeal from an interlocutary order in a matter of practice and procedure made in chambers by the learned Assistant Judge on June 21 last. The appeal was entered on June 23.

"Mr. Harris, for the respondent, takes the preliminary objection that no appeal lies in such a matter, at all events without leave of the Court, which has not been sought till now. He argues that the only appeal to the Full Court is that provided by the China Order-in-Council, 1907 Art. 11, and that, therefore, it is necessary to go to the practice in England to get the right to any such appeal at all. Further, that in England appeals in matters of practice and procedure are only heard by the Court of Appeal when leave thereto has been given, and that the present application of the appellants for such leave is now too late. Mr. Wing argues that he has the right of appeal under our rules, and if not, argues for an extension of time to enable him to apply for any leave that may be required.

"The question is a new one in this Court. It is regular practice for interlocutary order to be made in cases in this Court by a judge sitting either in Court or in chambers. Clear provision is made for that in our rules. See Rules 138 (interlocutaries. Urgent Orders).

"No express provision is made for an appeal from any such; Art. 11 of the 1907 Order-in-Council only deals with certain appeals. Under these circumstances Rule 315 authorises me to look in matters of practice and procedure to the practice and procedure of the High Court and other Courts in England and apply it, as far as circumstances admit. And I find that from all Courts in England an appeal is allowed from these interlocutary orders. Such orders are made in England in the High Court by a Master, with an appeal to the Judge in chambers, and further appeal, by leave, to the Court of Appeal. In the County Court they are made by the Judge, with an appeal to a Divisional Court, and again, by leave, to the Court of Appeal. And it seems to me that, following the home practice as far as in law, an appeal on such matters must here lie from a judge in court or in chambers to the only Appeal Court established here: the Full Court.

"I am faced with a further difficulty now: within what time should such an appeal be presented. I can't follow any home practice. None is expressly provided here. From the County at home such an appeal must be entered within 21 days of the order complained of; in the High Court an appeal from a Master to the judge in chambers is within five days; from the judge in chambers to the Court of Appeal within 14 days.

"It is not for me to say if in these matters this Court, sitting as a Full Court, is exercising the powers of a judge in chambers, of a Divisional Court or of the Court of Appeal in England. But, holding as I do that there is a right of appeal to this Court in these matters, it seems to me that I can only, until special provision is made by rules of Court, adopt the only period of time laid down in our rules, and, while adopting the home practice as far as circumstances admit, at the same time adopt our own period of time laid down for other appeals, viz., one month. This appeal, therefore, lies and was brought within the time allowed."

Following the Court's judgment, Mr. Wing said that he would open his appeal. After stating that when the case came up before Judge Grain he took preliminary objection, giving his views on the home practice in reference to actions in which one party sued on behalf of another counsel quoted several authorities.

Sir Skinner Turner, in dismissing the appeal, stated that in such cases defendant was entitled to know the names and addresses of the parties to an action. This was not a test action. It was an order claiming for damages for breach of contract, and all parties to the action should be named. The appeal must be dismissed.

MANY STUDENTS ENROLL HERE IN SUMMER SCHOOL

120 Registered In 18 Courses At Shanghai College

The first summer school conducted under the auspices of the colleges and universities of the East China Educational Association entered its first week of intensive study on the campus of Shanghai College with an enrollment of 120 students registered in 18 different courses of middle school and collegiate grade. This enrollment somewhat exceeds the anticipation of the promoters of the summer school and the generous response on the part of the students to the opportunities offered indicates that the school will become a permanent institution.

The summer school is co-educational and girls attend classes with men after the manner of their western sisters.

The faculty for the most part consists of instructors from St. John's University, Soochow University, and Shanghai College, Mr. F. C. Wilcox of the Ningpo Middle School is acting as Dean.

Collegiate and graduate courses are offered for which credit is given. The majority of the students are graduates of middle schools now engaged in teaching, and middle school students seeking advanced standing or making preparation for college entrance examinations.

Adding much to the life of the summer school is the school of physical and health education conducted under the auspices of the Council on health education with Dr. Appleton as head. Miss Barger and Miss Murray of the Y.W.C.A. staff are ably assisting. There are about 25 women teachers and physical directors enrolled in the intensive four weeks of study and practise.

Shanghai College is well located and equipped for the accommodation of a summer school. The location on the banks of the Whangpoo, the wide expanse of campus, the outdoor swimming pool, numerous tennis courts, gymnasium, and athletic field serve to make this institution almost ideal for use as a summer school.

WALL STREET IS OPPOSED TO CUT OF 12 HOUR DAY

Gary's Announcement Is Premature, Say Trust Spokesmen

(BY UNITED PRESS)
(Special To The China Press)

New York, July 17.—Wall Street is already reneging on the proposal of the steel industry to institute the 8-hour day in the steel industry, replacing the 12-hour day.

Authoritative spokesmen for "the street" characterise the announcement of Judge E. H. Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation, that the 8-hour day would soon be put into effect, as extremely premature and impossible until immigration increases.

It is the contention of those opposed to changing from the 12-hour to 8-hour day that the present supply of unskilled laborers from Europe is not sufficient to guarantee enough men to meet the demands of the industry.

Iron And Steel Traders Are In Pessimistic Mood

BY DAVID ARAKIE

The iron and steel market fluctuations in Shanghai continue to reflect very unsettled conditions as well as the temper of the buying districts, which have been more or less pessimistic for the past few months. The volume of business coming here from points in the interior is hardly of a cheerful nature. Importers say there are no inquiries, business being at a standstill. Although local prices show very little material variation, buyers seem inclined to hold off in providing for their present or future requirements. The market is drifting at anchor, and the only test the past two weeks have provided has been a few inquiries for galvanised sheets and wire rods and also for Hongkong tin. Hardly enough business, except between dealers, is in progress to establish any change in prices.

Purchases of wire shorts are still at a low ebb in this country, and there is a fairly large tonnage of shorts in the United States for export. Price is undoubtedly an obstacle as it is a hindrance to business in second hand plates. Chinese buyers in most instances seem to expect quotations at about G.$30 per ton c.i.f. Shanghai on second hand plates in good condition, without holes. One exporter in New York has been offering a lot of several thousand tons of second hand ship plates, punched, at about G.$32.50 per ton, c.i.f. Shanghai but with no taker at this price. To a certain extent the drop in exchange has nullified importers' efforts at bringing some of the inquiries to book.

BUY SPARINGLY

Buying of electrolytic copper by the copper mints in China is done sparingly. The sustaining influence of purchases by short interests disappeared largely with the expiration of the old contracts and the tendency at present is to buy on a small scale. The Wuchang mint is stated to have made purchases of some 200 to 300 tons of electrolytic copper, while almost all the mints are waiting for more favorable exchange to close deals. The present stocks of the Wuchang and Hupeh mints are not large. The Honan mint is likely to come on the market at an early date.

Chinese antimony is firm, but holders of this in Japan are anxious to sell at below the Shanghai quotation. The Japanese antimony merchants are generally in financial straits and have been rushing out to sell at any price. It is anticipated that the Japanese rate will decline further, in which case Japan will be absent from this counter here.

There has been a further drop in the price on Straits tin on the London market, and it would seem as if the Straits Government has missed a glorious opporunity of selling the stocks it acquired under the "Pool" a couple of years ago. From £235, the rate that was ruling in March last, the price has dropped to £178 per ton, a really serious drop for the metal. It is a very sharp decline indeed for peaceful times like these. It is now estimated that the American deliveries will be larger than originally calculated, probably in the neighborhood of 6,000 to 6,300 tons. On the other hand, Straits shipments look like being about 5,300 tons. Should these estimates prove correct, a reduction in the visible supply will be shown in the statistics. The improved statistical situation encourages optimism, and a recovery from the recent heavy decline seems likely.

HONGKONG TIN

Hongkong tin is retailing here at Tls. 69.50 per picul against Tls. 85 per picul that prevailed a few months ago. The Shanghai stocks of this tin amount to a thousand slabs, while the local holdings of Singapore tin are in the region of 20 tons. A renewed demand for Hongkong tin should set in shortly as the tinfoil works in the Shaoshing district will soon begin to work which will call for larger supplies of Hongkong tin. A fair amount of new business both in Hongkong and Straits tin was transacted last week. The Japanese market is stated to be overstocked, and the position of the holders of this metal is rapidly weakening.

Copper is quoted in Shanghai at Tls. 30 per picul, local stocks being estimated at about 200 tons. In Hankow the supplies are computed at about 500 tons. Electrolytic copper in New York is down to 14¾ cents per pound.

There is no actual demand for lead in Shanghai at present. Holdings are about 500 to 600 tons in the hands of dealers, but the movement of supplies is sluggish. Stocks are sufficient to last for another two to three months at the present rate of consumption. The idea is prevalent that lead prices will go lower and Chinese dealers are not committing themselves to any new business. Some of the local foreign firms have been quoting B. M. lead cheaper than the rate prevailing on the London market, and it has been puzzling to those in the trade to understand how this could be done. The demand for lead for the manufacture of paints has almost ceased in Japan as there are large stocks in Tokio and Osaka. These are being increased by the arrival of shipments purchased by speculators. Owing to the dropping markets in New York and London the Japanese merchants have been anxious to sell at a loss. B.H.P. lead is quoted at £25 per ton c.i.f. Shanghai, but there is no demand for this cargo. Stocks of lead in Shanghai amount to about 600 tons.

The iron and steel markets in London and New York are cabled easy and weak. British Chamber Asks Foreign Police On Chinese R'ways

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 17.—The executive of the China and Far East section of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce has sent a memorandum to the Foreign Office suggesting that special railway Chinese police under foreign supervision should be stationed at all the principal railway stations and where necessary, should travel on trains with powers to prevent unlawful acts being committed on the railway and in the neighborhood.

London, July 17.—The Diplomatic Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that while the British proposals for the protection of foreigners in China have not yet been submitted to the Chinese Government, the latter is endeavoring to forestall at least some of the demands by initiating reforms. The Correspondent expresses the opinion that such manifestations of goodwill are doubtless healthy but practical results have still to be appraised.

Poincare Reaffirms His Stand On Reparation Issue

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 16.—The latest sign of French and Belgian determination to maintain the pressure in the Ruhr is reported in a telegram from Reuter's correspondent at Cologne. The drastic prohibition of all ordinary passenger traffic across the frontier of occupied Germany, decided on by the Inter-Allied Rhineland Commission on July 1, has been summarily extended to July 26, causing the utmost consternation among thousands who were awaiting the expiration of the blockade to cross the cordon.

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 16.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, Mr. Baldwin stated that the draft British reply to Germany would be communicated to the United States.

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 16.—The latest sign of French and Belgian determination to maintain the pressure in the Ruhr is reported in a telegram from Reuter's Correspondent at Cologne. The drastic prohibition of all ordinary passenger traffic across the frontier of occupied Germany, decided on by the Inter-Allied Rhineland Commission on July 1, has been summarily extended to July 26, causing the utmost consternation among thousands who were awaiting the expiration of the blockade to cross the cordon.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 16.—A luncheon was given by M. Poincare this morning in honor of the Bey of Tunis at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The newspapers declare that the speech by M. Poincare at the unveiling of the war memorial at Senlis yesterday expresses in a moving way the French claims. The Journal des Debats says: "The address yesterday was by no means the work of a diplomatic dialectician. After a tribute to the victims of the war and an opportune reminder of the abominable acts of violence over which so-called realists gently pass a sponge in order to draw attention to the alleged horrors of the Ruhr, M. Poincare explained simply the general situation such as it is. He replied to the British statement of last Thursday. He did not enter into details of the negotiations. He spoke as a responsible head of Government who has the direction of affairs at a critical moment. The words which he spoke had to be spoken. They correspond with the sentiment of almost the whole French nation."

M. Dior, the Minister of Commerce, opening at Havre a Canadian exhibition train, said: "I am happy to be able to offer you with heart-felt gratitude the thanks of France, who will remember better still when on her lines, certain of which will recall to your memories of the war, your train brings remembrance of Canada, of her productive forces and of her friendship."

The Intransigeant announces that a hundred Italian engineers will visit the French devastated districts and the Belgian industrial districts of Liege, Charleroi and Mons in August. The journal calculates that, if the war had taken place in England, the devastation would have covered an area equal to the counties of Denbighshire Flintshire, Cheshire, Staffordshire, Derbyshire, Nottinghamshire, Leicestershire, Worcestershire, Rutland, Northamptonshire, Huntingdon, Bedfordshire, Buckinghamshire, Hertfordshire, Essex, Yorkshire, Lincolnshire and Lancashire, namely a total area of 39,240 square kilometers, which is the extent of the regions destroyed in the devastated departments of France.

According to Belgian official figures, the stocks of coal seized in the Ruhr total 2,517,000 tons and those of coke 1,488,000 tons. A daily total of 15,000 tons of coal and 10,000 tons of coke is being removed.

Havas announces that important stocks of coal and coke have been seized at the Thyssen works at Hamborn owing to refusal to pay the coal tax.

False accusations have been brought against the French occupation troops and photographs have been shown of alleged victims with their backs scarred by blows from whips. As a result the distributors of the faked photographs, August Arnold, a photographer at Bochom, Hugo Borrmann of Lautzen and Theodor Gautefer, a municipal employee at Bochum who posed for the photographs, have been arrested and have all confessed.

SAYS SINGAPORE PLAN CONFORMS TO NAVAL TREATY

Admiralty Chief Denies Holding "Card Up Sleeve"

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 16.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Mr. George Lambert and Captain William Wedgwood Benn, Mr. L. C. S. Amery, the First Lord of the Admiralty, said that it was clearly understood by all the delegates to the Washington Conference last year that Britain was retaining full freedom of action with regard to Singapore.

There was no discussion of particular arrangements that we or any of the other Powers concerned contemplated at naval bases outside the zone explicitly defined in the Agreement. The Cabinet first approved the proposals for the Singapore base in June, 1921. There was no reason why details of extra facilities which we were going to establish there should have been communicated at Washington.

Loud Ministerial protests were evoked by a suggestion by Captain Wedgwood Benn that we had put our hands to a document purporting to maintain the status quo while keeping a card up our sleeves. Mr. Amery repudiated this as a gross libel.

He emphasised that the Washington Agreement in no way limited participants as regards building of other than capital-ships or as regards improvements to dockyards in the Pacific or other waters. No Powers had sent communications to each other as regards any of these matters.

Prince Unveils War Memorial

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 16.—The Prince of Wales today unveiled a memorial on the Thames Embankment to the officers and men of the Air Forces of the Empire, who fell in the war.

The memorial is in the form of a huge bronze eagle, poised for flight and looking towards France with its claws embedded in a globe, belted with the signs of the zodiac. The eagle is poised on the top of a pylon of Portland stone, fifty-five feet high.

Japanese Bars Chinese Laborers

Kobe, July 17.—The Japanese immigration law was rigidly enforced when 300 Chinese coolies were refused permission to land from the Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamer Siberia Maru. All of the coolies embarked at Shanghai. Toyo K'sen Kaisha is asking Home Office authorities through the officials of Hyogo-ken for temporary accommodation for the Chinese in the Customs sheds until the rejected men are embarked for China on the C. P. S. steamer Empress of Canada on Wednesday.
Other steamship lines touching at Japan ports have met similar experiences but such a large number as that rejected today is unheard of.
The Japanese law as regards immigration is being strictly enforced due to growing unemployment among Japanese laborers. Police are guarding watchfully to prevent the smuggling in of the barred alien classes.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

July 17, 1923

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 62⅞ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 459¾. The only change in our official quotations here today was a rise in the Franc rate to 1190.

While our market at the opening was inclined to be easy, it steadied up somewhat during the day. The lowest rates at which business in Sterling was done were 3-0-7-16 for July, 3-0⅝ for August and 3-0¼ for September.

The lowest rates for Gold Dollars were 69⅞ for July, 69¾ for August and 69⅝ for September. There were generally good sellers at these rates with buyers at about ⅛d. in Sterling and ¼ point in Gold Dollars above these quotations.

There were sellers of Yen at 69½ for July, 69⅝ for August and 69¾ for forward. Banks were quoting 3-1⅛ and 71¾ for Sterling and Gold Dollar bills for near delivery and 3-1 and 71½ for forward. There were no buyers of Franc bills under 1230.

There was little business done in the London silver market yesterday but the market is reported as closing steady. New York report their market dull and quiet.

Cigarette Tax Is Juicy Plum For Anking Officials

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, July 13.—The proposed cigarette tax for Anhwei Province, before approval or disapproval is handed down from Peking, has already become the bone of contention among the greedy officials of Anking. At a recent meeting held by the Cigarette Tax Preparation Commission, it was proposed that a Joint Council should be organised to be composed of ten members, five from educational circles and five to be appointed by the Governor.

The participation of educational men in this Tax Council is due to the fact that the cigarette tax will be levied nominally for the promotion of education. The present Chief of the Cigarette Revenue Bureau is very much concerned at this pilfering, and is doing his best to retain the power he now has in his hands.

SHIPPING BOOM DROP STILL FELT HERE IN 1922

Report Shows Plethora Of Tonnage And Low Rates

In close sympathy with shipping conditions existing elsewhere in the world, the local freight market still labored during 1922 under the effect of the collapse of the post-war shipping boom, which began in the summer of 1920, says the commissioner of customs' report of 1922 for Shanghai. A plethora of tonnage coupled with extremely low freight levels have been characteristic features of the year under review. The market for homeward shipping opened in a very depressed state, and Conference rates on groundnuts and linseed were reduced in the early part of the year, shortly followed by similar reduction in rates on other cereals.

A slight improvement in the demand for loading space occurred in the late spring, but eased off towards the end of June, while, owing to the reduced rates of freight then ruling on the Lower Yangtsze, Conference rates for ocean steamers loading at Hankow direct were reduced to a corresponding level as from June 26. A downward trend followed during the summer months, there being very little cargo offering, and rates on beans, seeds, groundnuts, etc., were further reduced by approximately 25 percent from August 21.

As a result of competitive trade, the Homeward Conference decided also to reduce freight rates on ore from 30s. to 22s. 6d. from September 1, allowing later in that month a further reduction in the additional rate, over and above the Shanghai rates, for direct Hankow loadings. The demand for space to Europe improved to a certain extent, however, towards the end of the year and an increase in the rates on cereals by about 20 percent came into force from November 22, while, further, the charter rate from Dairen to Europe firmed up considerably.

The demand for outward space to Pacific ports has been extremely poor throughout the year, while cargo for New York has been offering fairly freely but at very low rates. The establishment of a local New York freight bureau took place in the autumn, which will probably cause higher rates in the future. Inward cargoes have remained fair during the year. The coastal freight market has met with various vicissitudes during the year, the Hongkong shipping strike, which lasted from the end of January till the beginning of March, causing a great deal of tonnage to become tied up at that port.

The recovery which followed the settlement of the strike was very sharp at the time, but the demand for tonnage fell off considerably during May, when the fighting, mentioned elsewhere, took place in the North, causing a general stagnation in the interport trade. By June employment of any kind was so scarce that a large amount of tonnage had to remain idle in harbor. With the slow improvement in the northern market, and the political situation adversely affecting the southern markets, very little business in shipping was done during the summer months. The market showed a recovery in the autumn, when the new crops and the trade revival in the North caused a distinct improvement in the demand for tonnage, particularly from northern ports.

The tonnage of vessels entered and cleared amounted to 27,515,927, exceeding the record figure of 1921 by 3,433,653 tons. The following table shows the share taken by each flag in millions of tons during the last three years:

	1920	1921	1922
British	8.32	8.73	10.21
Japanese	6.15	6.98	7.00
Chinese	4.13	4.70	5.22
American	2.58	2.21	2.85
French	0.56	0.52	0.66
Other flags	1.26	0.88	1.53

"Others flags" for 1922 includes, among others, 0.21 million tons of German shipping, which is again becoming a factor in the Eastern freight market.

The local shipbuilding yards have also this year, as in the previous years, been affected by the general world depression in shipping, and, so long as the present over-supply of tonnage exists, few orders for new vessels can be expected.

Anking Electric Company Being Squeezed To Death

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, July 13.—While under official management, the Anking Electric Light Company as all other government undertakings is going to pieces and all the money that was put into it to get it started has been eaten up by the few officials holding the company. At present the equipment has become incompetent and the light in the city is extremely poor and dim.

The light company was capitalised at $200,000, and in view of its failure under inefficient official management, it has been proposed to raise a subsidiary capital of $100,000 from the people to make it a joint concern of the government and the people.

Weather Report

Remarks of the 16th.—High pressures over the Bonin. The typhoon is nearing Naha, slowly and N ward or NNE ward. Low area over Tongking. A new cyclonic centre is appearing to the SE of Yap. Morning of the 17th.—Cloudy but fine weather. The pressure keeps rather high. Easterly breezes.

AN INCIDENT IN THE GREAT ROUND-THE-WORLD AIR FLIGHT

Major Blake, describing some of his adventures on the great attempted Round-the-World Air Flight, writes:—

"On several memorable occasions when we were stranded in the desert with little or no food, Bovril was most valuable.

"I recollect one of the bitterly cold nights in the open desert when our escort machine and ourselves had to land miles away from anywhere. We sat huddled up under the machine unable to sleep through cold, until we drained some petrol out of one of the tanks and heated some of our small supply of water. Then we opened up a Bovril tin, enabling us to thoroughly warm ourselves and get a little sleep.

"I cannot over estimate the value of this food to us. I should be extremely loath to undertake a trip of this nature without this food."

Freedom In The Philippines

IN adopting the principle of non-cooperation in an effort to embarrass Governor-General Wood in the administration of the Philippines the Filipino politicians are merely making trouble for themselves.

The Americans gave the Filipinos their freedom. Ever since the occupation America has been giving increasing power to Filipino politicians, until today a large majority of the offices in the islands are filled by them. Especially under the administration of Governor-General Harrison the Americans holding appointive offices were removed to make way for the Filipinos.

The result, instead of proving a beneficial lesson in self-government, appears to have given the native politicians a noticeable case of swelled-head.

In picking Leonard Wood for the post of Governor-General, President Harding sent probably the best man in the United States for the job. The Filipino politicos greeted the new Governor-General with knives up their sleeves. From the very first they have thrown every possible obstacle in his path, leading finally to the open break between Wood and Quezon over a combination of differences, including the questions of the closing of the branches of the national bank, the sugar centrals, and the reinstatement of a minor police official.

Practicing what they have been preaching for several months past, Quezon's followers, as announced in THE CHINA PRESS yesterday and today, are now resigning in an effort to embarrass the Governor-General.

The situation is one of the most vital in the history of American occupation of the islands, and at the same time one of the most ludicrous. If the government does not function, who suffers? The answer is: the native Filipino. If taxes are unpaid, if the various governmental departments do not carry on their work, if the City of Manila runs along without a guiding hand—no one suffers but the Filipinos themselves.

The Filipino politician each day demonstrates more and more his irresponsibility. Children learn only from experience and the nice American school ma'am can only grin and bear it. It is not to be considered seriously that General Wood will resign. His job is to remain in Manila and carry on the splendid, constructive work he has been doing. If the Filipinos resign from the important posts they have been appointed to fill, the President or Congress will empower Wood to fill the vacant posts with Americans. The Filipinos will get their full independence when they show that they can govern themselves. They cannot drive Gen. Wood or any American from the islands. Only by co-operation can they win whatever more of freedom they may desire.

Incidentally it's rather strange that such a man should be even alleged to be suspected of dealing in arms.

O. HENRY - - - BOY AND MAN

How he lived, how he looked, and how he Worked - - -

BY ARTHUR B. MAURICE
FORMER EDITOR OF "THE BOOKMAN," AUTHOR OF "NEW YORK OF THE NOVELISTS, ETC.

We laughed and dozed, then roused and read again
And vowed O. Henry funniest of men.
He always worked a triple-hinged surprise
To end the scene and make one rub his eyes.
VACHEL LINDSAY.

But O. Henry was always looking with eager curiosity for "what's around the corner;" so after two years he jumped the ranch and ran down to Austin, the capital of Texas; then to Houston, where, as a reporter, he had his first opportunity to put his itch for writing to practical use. Then he returned to Austin, and to a variety of occupations that enabled him to acquire a wide knowledge of life at first hand. The O. Henry stories tell us how much of that first-hand knowledge went into their making. To recall at random: the author of "The Love Philtre of Ikey Schonenstein" and "A Ramble in Aphasia" must at some time have been a drug clerk; the author of "Georgia's Ruling" must have worked in a land office; the author of "Friends in San Rosario" must have had practical experience in Western banks.

For two years in Austin he worked as bookkeeper for the real estate firm of Maddox Brothers and Anderson at a salary of one hundred dollars a month; then, for four years, from January, 1887, to January, 1891, he was in the General Land Office. In the meantime he had married. It was an elopement, and the girl was Athol Estes, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mrs. G. P. Roach. There was no parental objection to the bridegroom—but the girl was young and her health was delicate. Once married, however, parental forgiveness and blessing were quickly won, and Mr. and Mrs. Roach were ever after O. Henry's stanch friends. The years immediately following marriage were the happiest in O. Henry's life. The work and environment of the General Land Office were pleasant; in leisure hours he was writing odds and ends and disposing of them here and there for small sums that helped eke out the family income; and, to cap the climax and fill to the brim the cup of content, there was born to him a daughter Margaret Worth Porter.

The General Land Office position was a political one; and, in 1891, O. Henry's friends were squeezed out, so he turned over his desk to a successor, and entered the First National Bank of Austin as paying and receiving teller. There he remained for four years and then resigned to go into journalism. He had fun for a while with a humorous weekly known as The Rolling Stone, which appeared on April 28, 1894, and disappeared on April 27, 1895. "The Rolling Stone," O. Henry said: "rolled for about a year and then showed unmistakable signs of getting mossy. Moss and I were never friends, so I said good-by to it."

Though his publication failed, O. Henry was henceforth committed to his pen for his livelihood. For six precarious months he picked up what he could by humorous contributions to any paper that showed a disposition to pay promptly. In June, 1895, he had made up his mind to go to Washington, and was on the eve of departure when his young wife, who had been born to an inheritance of consumption, became ill. The sky brightened temporarily when he obtained a regular position on the Houston Daily Post. There, as a columnist, he began with "Tales of the Town," which was changed to "Some Postscripts and Pencillings," and later to "Some Postscripts." His first column in the Daily Post appeared on October 18, 1895; his last on June 22, 1896.

For many months thereafter the life of O. Henry was one of drifting. The veil drawn back shows him on the deck of a fruit steamer bound for Honduras. Let the reader recall "The Shamrock and the Palm." It pictures him basking in the sunshine of Trujillo. Let the reader recall the Coralio of those splendid tales that make up "Cabbages and Kings," and the figures of Beelzebub Blythe, and Frank Goodwin, and "Billy" Keog, and Willard Geddie. Drifting! One day at Trujillo, O. Henry was standing on the wharf when he saw a tattered dress suit, with a man in it, coming from a fruit steamer that had just arrived. Though O. Henry did not then know it, the dress-suit stranger was Al Jennings, the train robber. "Why did you leave so suddenly," asked O. Henry by the way of conversation. "Maybe for the same reason that you did," was the reply. "What is your destination?" continued O. Henry. "I left the States to keep away from my destination," said Jennings dryly. "I'm just drifting. How about you?" "I can't drift," said O. Henry; "I'm anchored."

But the anchor that held O. Henry was loosened by the tugging of heartstrings. Along about Christmas time a box sent by his wife reached him. It contained some clothing and delicacies—packed by loving hands that were now fast wasting away. It was through blurred eyes that he gazed that day on the waving palms and the blue sky of Trujillo. The homing instinct took hold of him, and he went back to Austin. Then followed tender, sad days when he brooded over his wife and watched the flame of her fragile life grow dimmer hour by hour, until she passed away.

After that came shadowed years—dark years, in which the soul of William Sydney Porter absorbed the most somber and searing lessons of humanity. Those long days and nights of suffering under a charge that was never truly substantiated moved him, not to bitterness, but to a broader tenderness and sympathy, and brought him forever into a keener and closer touch with the unfortunate ones in the battle of life.

Making Friends

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Some folks "make friends" easily. But they lose them with the same celerity with which they were gained. And they wonder what it is all about.

Every day brings me several letters from girls who tell about the same story—they go to dances, meet men, have a happy evening of attention and adulation—and that is the end of the matter. Some of the girls fancy they lose out because they will not permit a stray caress or two. Some of them imagine that on escorting them home and seeing the cheap neighborhood in which they live, the men lose interest. Some insist that they were too shy to encourage the friendship properly. And they—I think—come nearest the truth.

Friendship doesn't leap into being through a few dances and the exchange of a bit of badinage. It is possible to lay the foundations for friendship in the mutual attraction of one enjoyable meeting. But this is a busy old world of ours, and we get swept in and out of various circles, meet folks in passing, are attracted and then forget them in new meetings and partings.

We don't get deeply interested in folks in terms of a casual attraction, because when we are busy and go about a lot, we feel so many casual attractions.

Often when a man has been charming to a girl all through a pleasant social evening, he has a strong reaction against the idea of having someone sweep him on his feet. He may wake to realize that he cannot afford to go around to a lot of dances and take a girl out to the theaters and dinners a social acquaintance may safely be said to crave. When he thinks over the pleasant evening, he hasn't one memory to indicate that the girl is more than a butterfly. He may even fancy that because she was so easy to get acquainted with—she is the flirtatious type who meets a lot of men and encourages them all.

Unless the attraction of a first meeting is very strong, or a bond of mutual interest is discovered, that first meeting may easily be the last if chance doesn't take a hand.

The girl who holds a worthwhile man's interest must make him feel that she is worth while, that knowing her will enrich his life, that she is a friend worth cultivating.

The laughter and chaff in which girls indulge to make themselves charming at dances and dinners, serves to pass a delightful evening and sometimes stimulates a man to seek further acquaintance. But the busy man, the man with responsibilities, won't try to build anything lasting on a casual flirtation of an evening's duration. And the butterfly man knows that there are plenty of other stimulating meetings ahead.

Given a man a girl wants a chance to know, she must show enough cordiality, serene graciousness, intelligent friendliness and stimulating possibilities as a real and unusual person to give him a seeing that here is something worth investigating and pursuing. And she must know just the proper mixture of friendliness and dignity to persuade the man that he hasn't exhausted her possibilities at one meeting.

Most of us are lonely and looking for real friends. The girl who is as much interested in the man as in herself, is the girl who makes a lasting appeal.

Heroines Of History

BY M. STUYVESANT

In Paris, during the reign of Louis XV, a beautiful young girl graced the salons of many smart hostesses in Paris. She was not only beautiful, but brilliant. The great men of the time—some of those who were even then planting the seed for the revolution—found delight in her charming society.

This unusual girl was the daughter, some said, of a butcher. Others claimed that her father had been a sutler in the army and had come to a bad end through dishonesty.

However, she was adopted and brought up by Le Normant de Tournehem, a rich farmer-general. She was given every opportunity of education and held a dignified place in society.

Voltaire once met her at a reception. So impressed with her vivacity and charm was he that on returning home he wrote in his journal:

"She confessed to me that she had a secret presentiment that the king would fall in love with her and that she had a violent inclination for him."

Perhaps it was a presentiment and perhaps it was a wish, but at any rate this clever young woman laid her plans according to her desire.

Her first move was to marry Le Normant d'Etioles, joint-heir with her to her foster father's estate. She did not love him, although he deeply loved her. But this gave her the opportunity to establish herself independently in society and to dazzle it not only with her beauty, but with the grandeur of her entertainments.

To her salon came all the great men. But she had difficulty in meeting his majesty, King Louis. Finally, one night at a fancy-dress ball, she was presented to him. It was only for a few hours that she held him interested; however, he did not forget her.

Louis' great complaint was, "I am bored." After hearing this one day for perhaps the thousandth time, his valet suggested that the king send for the pretty Mme. d'Etioles. Her hour of triumph had come. She remained with the king as his mistress until the day of her death.

Louis immediately gave his new flame a title—the Marquise de Pompadour.

Power was what this ambitious woman wanted—not love. And how she worked for it!

Her influence over the king was not merely a physical one. She held him by her wit and her adeptness in politics. So hard and well did she work with him over affairs of state that he became absolutely dependent on her.

When signs of being bored with her evinced themselves in her royal lover, Pompadour encouraged him in his debauchery.

Rather than have a younger favorite replace her, Pompadour established the Parc aux Cerfs, or Stag's park, where she assembled all of the beauties of France to entertain their monarch.

Nor did she stop at this. Pompadour herself was a great actress. The brightest literary geniuses of the day—among them Voltaire—wrote plays in which she featured herself.

The "ennui" of her king was Pompadour's sole fear. She exhausted herself trying to keep him from being bored. Pompadour expended thousands of fortunes to arrange gorgeous fetes at Versailles for his delight.

All the while the people of France were murmuring and fearful of her extravagance. But always, on hearing of her discontent, Pompadour coldly remarked: "After me the deluge."

The deluge did flood France in the reign of the next Louis in the form of the revolution.

Pompadour did much to encourage art and literature, but she herself although artistic and highly cultured, centered her mind on internal politics, and in these she was mistress. But her struggles told on her early in life. When she was 42, she said:

"My life is a combat."

And the combat was too much for her strength.

April 15, 1764, Pompadour was told that her end was near. With great pride and care she adorned herself in her full court dress and died fearlessly.

It was only death which could remove Pompadour from the palace and from the position which she had fought for and successfully maintained as "the power behind the throne."

Small Things—A Cure For Vanity

By Dr. Henry Van Dyke

I

"Who hath despised the day of small things!"—Zech. 4:10.

It is not required of every man and woman to be, or to do, something great. Most of us must content ourselves with humble tasks and small parts in the chorus. Because Homer and Milton have written epics, shall we have no little lyrics?

Because we have heard the great organ at Freiburg, shall the sound of Kathe's zither in the Alpine hut please us no more?

Even those who have greatness thrust upon them will do well to lay the burden down now and then, and be thankful that they are not altogether answerable for the conduct of the universe—certainly not all the time.

"I reckon," said a cowboy to me as we were riding through the bad lands of North Dakota, "there's some one bigger than me running this outfit.

"He can tend to it, all right, while I smoke my pipe after the roundup."

II

"And he took a little child, and set him in the midst of them."—Mark 9.36.

For the mitigation and restraint of conceit when it becomes acute (either in its gratified or its ungratified form) there is no better remedy than to frequent the company of little people to whom your occupation and your achievements (or failures) are unknown.

Elsewhere you may find heating flattery or freezing contempt.

But here you may forget your wounds and cool your fever in that fresh and impartial air which belongs to the society of young children.

If the little ones see you sad they will give you a glance of sorrow, they know not why, and then demand a new story.

If they see you glad they will rejoice with you, they know not why, and then call you to their merriest play.

It is helpful to get away from yourself.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

They who profess to know assure me I
May some day enter into endless bliss;
A better world, they tell me, will supply
The pleasures that I am denied in this.
I hope that all they promise may be true;
I'll love to have a crown upon my brow,
But I don't mind confessing this to you:
I'm strong for having glory here and now.

"There is a brighter world than this," they say,
Where you will have no aches nor ills to bear;
Enclosed, please find the rules you must obey
In order to have endless glory there.
Note, kindly, that you must not deviate
A jotlet from the course that we have drawn;
Pursue no worldly joys, become sedate;
Bid all your lively sentiments be-gone!

"Love only in accordance with the laws
That we in our great wisdom have set down;
Don't dare to be engaged in any cause
On which we have agreed that we should frown;
Turn from all things that tend to make you glad,
And where you can, check others who are gay;
Forget the inclinations you have had
To find enjoyment on the Sabbath Day."

Oh, it will be a triumph to possess
The glory that they tell me may be gain,
To be the heir to endless happiness,
And free from every reason to complain.
I hope the crown I am to win will fit,
And gloriously ornament my brow,
But this, in confidence, I will admit:
I'd like a little glory here and now.

Obtain Milk From Trees In Brazil

The milk question in many countries is a serious problem.

For in many tropical places the cattle are so poorly nourished that they do not produce good milk.

Then the necessity of keeping milk cool in order to preserve it is another difficult feature in countries where the ice supply is small, if there is any ice to be had.

To many a traveler in these parts of the world, breakfast is not satisfactory because of the absence of cream for his coffee.

But, in Brazil, where an unusual tree grows, there is never any annoyance of worry about milk.

Fresh milk and cream can be had daily. And it can be procured in such quantities that it is not necessary to worry about keeping it overnight.

The poorest people can have all the milk they want. There is no price to be paid for this most valuable of all food products. Any man or woman can have all the richest, creamiest milk he or she desires.

The only things needed to procure the milk are an ax and a good right arm.

Because in Brazil grows a tree known as the "milk-tree."

The natives go daily to one of these trees, chop a hole in the bark. Out runs the sap, which is like a thick rich milk and the flavor is almost identical to that of the best cow's milk, carrying a high percentage of butter-fat.

This wound in the tree does not affect the growth of the tree or the supply of milk if the tree isn't milked too frequently.

When the native has taken all that is desired, the sap hardens around the cut and thus prevents waste.

This milk can be used for cooking and also for a drink. The traveler will find it delicious when slightly diluted with water.

In this section of Brazil there is no worry about the rise in milk prices or milk adulteration. There is never a change in the menu because "the milkman has not come." For there every man is his own milkman. He simply goes to the milk-tree as our ancestors went to the well.

Big Idaho Fire Is Under Control

Wallace, Idaho, July 17.—The first at Mace was brought under control this morning, but it is certain it will take days to extinguish it. At least four hundred people have been made homeless.

Four hundred miners on the 1000-foot level of the Hecla mine had a thrilling race to safety from the flames yesterday. The power lines of the mine were cut off paralysing the hoists and plunging the mine into darkness. The men tried to climb the ladders through two shafts only to find the flames blocking exits. They were able at length to climb a thousand feet to safety through a tunnel and a third shaft.

Giant Turbine To Do Work Of Over Five Million Men

The entire slave population of the United States before the Civil War would have been unable to do the work that will be required of a giant steam turbine generator now being manufactured by the General Electric Company, U.S.A., according to Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, chief consulting engineer of that company.

The ante-bellum slave population of the United States is estimated at 4,700,000. The giant turbine will produce 60,000 kilowatts, which is equivalent to 80,000 horsepower, and Dr. Steinmetz, assuming that each horsepower is in turn equivalent to the muscle power of 22½ men, shows that the turbine can furnish energy equal to the muscle work of 5,400,000 men working in three eight-hour shifts.

This huge turbine will be installed in the new central station of the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago, which will ultimately have a capacity of 500,000 to 600,000 kilowatts, making one largest electrical power station in the world.
